Five Killed, Many Hurt in West Coast Gale

CALIFORNIA HIT BY HIGH WINDS; MILLIONS LOST

Buildings Wrecked, Entire Communities Stripped Of Trees

HIGHWAYS ARE BLOCKADED

Radio Stations Cancel Programs

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10 — (UP) — A score of cities today were strewn with wreckage caused by a violent Pacific gale that lashed the California coast with 30 mile winds, killed five and injured dozens of persons and destroyed millions of dollars worth of property.

Buildings collapsed; whole communities were stripped of trees; power lines were destroyed and hundreds of families were left homeless when their flimsy tents and cabins were carried away.

A new deluge of rain followed the windstorm today, continuing the stormy weather that has beset the West coast for two weeks.

The destruction of crops and orchards was tremendous. Several towns were isolated by blocked roads and loss of telephone lines. Some were left in darkness when power service failed. Trains were stalled and radio stations cancelled programs for lack of power.

State Capitol Damaged

The state capitol at Sacramento was damaged. More than a score were injured there and police broadcast a warning to all persons to keep off the streets during the height of the wind.

Great waves swept in from the sea and ships were pounded against their moorings.

The dead included:
A. F. Cunningham, 45, killed at Marysville when a tree crashed through his cabin.

Mrs. Margaret Tingle, 49, crushed by a falling garage at Ceres.

F. Eric Bellquist, 65, killed by a falling shed at Rion.

William Brom, 79, struck by a tree at Sacramento.

Fritz Flukiger, 47, U. S. coast guardsman, who died of exertion from swimming to shore after his surf boat was overturned in San Francisco bay during practice drill.

The storm extended along three-fourths of the California coastline, from Los Angeles to Eureka. The worst of the storm passed inland toward the Sierra Nevada mountains yesterday afternoon, but high winds and a heavy sea continued all night.

Ex-aquatic Star Found Dead

CHARGE of homicide was placed against William King, 45-year-old W.P.A. musician, following the discovery of the battered body of Mrs. Harriet Brown Nielson, 35-year-old former diving star and stage actress in a New York rooming house. Police said King admitted striking Mrs. Nielson after she hit him in the face with an empty bottle during a drinking party. King is shown, in face covered, at left, and a late photo of Mrs. Nielson is at right.

Mathewson Asks Venue Change for Fraud Trial

Motion that the trials of Guy Walter Mathewson, 65, of Columbus, on two indictments charging obtaining money under false pretenses, be transferred to an adjoining county was on file in Common Pleas court Thursday. The motion will be heard Saturday by Judge J. W. Adkins.

The motion, filed by a Columbus attorney representing Mr. Mathewson, contends that a fair and impartial trial of the defendant cannot be obtained in this county, an impartial jury cannot be impaneled, by reason of the prejudice prevailing a jury could not render a fair verdict, and that prejudice prevailing would prevent witnesses to be called by the defendant from testifying freely in his favor.

The indictments are based on alleged insurance fraud cases. Mathewson is accused of operating under the name of William Mason and representing himself to be an agent of a Chicago insurance firm. He is alleged to have obtained notes on insurance policies, discounting the notes at once, and failing to deliver the policies.

His trial on one of the charges has been set for Feb. 24.

The amount spent includes expenditures in the city and throughout the county for direct and work relief.

During the month the relief program included 473 families each averaging about four persons. The average amount to each family was $13.02.

A carload of apples was received Thursday for distribution to relief clients. The fruit will be given to city folk at the distribution to be held Friday. Distribution to county clients will be held next week.

F. D. ASKS MORE MONEY TO PAY COST OF RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 — (UP) — President Roosevelt today asked congress to appropriate an additional $250,000,000 for unemployment relief in the remainder of this fiscal year, ending June 30.

N. & W. STARTS TO INSTALL NEW GRADE SIGNALS

Five City Crossings To Be Protected By Railroad's Wigwag Devices

WATCHMEN STAY AT MAIN

24-Hour Service Assured For Busy Highway

The Norfolk & Western railroad has started installation of wigwag signals at five Circleville grade crossings. The program is a part of the railroad's safety campaign, which includes all cities served.

Workmen expect to complete the task in a month.

Signals will be placed at High, Mound, Ohio, Scioto and Washington streets. Main street, where traffic is much heavier than any of the other N. & W. grades, will be served by three watchmen who will work eight-hour shifts.

A. V. Osborn, Circleville agent for the N. & W., expressed high hopes that the wigwag signals would give Circleville crossings the necessary protection.

The railroad has been maintaining watchmen at Main, Mound, Washington and High streets. The Washington street watchman was retired recently and his place has not been filled by the railroad.

The High street and Mound street watchmen will be assigned to the Main street crossing to work with the employee already stationed there. Thus no workmen will lose their jobs.

Council and the railroad have conferred numerous times about the advisability of wigwag installation at the several crossings. Permission of the Public Utilities commission was necessary before the project could start.

CHILLICOTHEAN JAILED ON TWO FORGERY CHARGES

Sheriff Charles Radcliff arrested Charles Payne, 29, in Chillicothe, Thursday, on two charges of forgery. The sheriff said that Payne, a resident of the Ross county seat, admitted the charges.

One of the forgeries involved a $6 check passed on the Stiffler store Jan. 24. The other was for $7 on Ben H. Gordon during the Christmas season.

Radcliff said that Payne forged the name of Charles Carter to the checks, made payable to Howard Payne, the arrested man's brother-in-law.

Police Chief W. F. McCrady said Thursday that he had made little progress in his probe of three forgeries in which the name of Dr. J. F. Simkins was used.

SENATORS OPEN PATH FOR VOTE ON FARM BILL

Anti-Lynching Measure Put Aside After House Gives Act Its Approval

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 — (UP) — For the second time this session the senate laid aside the controversial anti-lynching bill today to consider a measure on President Roosevelt's list of "must" legislation — the farm bill.

Administration leaders predicted early approval of the farm bill's conference report in view of the 263-135 vote by which the house adopted it yesterday. Opposition from livestock state senators was expected to delay but not defeat its acceptance.

When and if the senate approves the report, it will become the second item of major legislation sent to the White House for the President's signature since congress was called back in extraordinary session last November.

Nazis Guarding 13 Retired Men

LONDON, Feb. 10 — (UP) — The Daily Express reported today that Col.-Gen. Werner Von Fritsch, who resigned as commander-in-chief of the German army as part of the shakeup of February 4, was under observation by the secret police along with 13 other army and air force generals whose retirement was ordered.

The Daily Express asserted that all officers under observation were suspected of being members of a monarchist group and that the observation under which they were kept approximated a state of confinement to barracks.

Senator's Bride

Mrs. William Smathers

BERLIN, Feb. 10 — (UP) — Joachim Von Ribbentrop took over the foreign ministry today as the retiring foreign minister, Baron Konstantin Von Neurath, bade farewell to his associates and introduced Ribbentrop.

Ribbentrop, in a speech, paid tribute to Neurath and requested his further cooperation in conducting foreign affairs.

In the shakeup of February 4 Ribbentrop was transferred to the foreign ministry from the London embassy. Neurath was made head of a new cabinet privy council on foreign affairs.

SENATOR NORRIS READY TO PUSH LITTLE T. V. A. ACT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 — (UP) — Sen. George W. Norris, I. Neb., "father" of the Tennessee Valley authority, prepared today to open a drive for his bill to establish seven little T. V. A.'s.

Norris said that he would ask the agriculture committee, before which the bill is pending, to consider the measure immediately after the senate passes the farm bill. Senate sentiment indicated another bitter debate when the measure reaches the floor.

The Norris bill, which was reported favorably by an agriculture sub-committee during the first session of congress, would divide the country into seven federal natural-resource-planning authorities with power to establish hydro-electric plants, flood control projects, irrigation works, reforestation programs, and other conservation projects.

To date the administration has not definitely supported either the Norris bill or its rival, the Mansfield bill. The latter, pending in the house, would grant the authorities power merely to survey the needs of the country and make recommendations to the President and to congress.

Preliminary signs indicate, however, that even with President Roosevelt's approval, the Norris measure will face sharp fight in the senate.

ONE MEASLES CASE

One new case of measles was reported to city health officials Thursday. The new case makes a total of 126 cases reported since Jan. 16. Quarantines on homes have averaged about 30 daily.

PETITION SEEKS PAROLE DENIAL FOR YOUNG THUG

A petition to be sent to the state parole board opposing the parole of Steve Surina, of Allen-town, Pa., who was sentenced to the penitentiary from Pickaway county in the Spring of 1937 for the wounding of Detective George Ruder, of Columbus, is being circulated by George E. Gerhard, prosecutor.

Surina was sentenced from one to 20 years. He will be given a parole hearing on March 1. He was one of four youths arrested in this county on July 14, 1935, after a chase in which officers of eight central Ohio counties participated. The wounding of Ruder occurred near the Walnut township school building. The youths were chased into Pickaway county after an auto collision in Columbus.

They were returned to Pennsylvania to face charges. After serving time in Pennsylvania for auto theft, Surina was brought to Circleville to face the shooting charge.

WAGE-HOUR MEASURE TO REACH FLOOR IN SPRING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 — (UP) — Chairman Mary T. Norton, D. N. J., of the house labor committee, said after conferring with President Roosevelt today that she believed a revised wage-hour bill will be brought to the floor of the house in late March or early April.

Storm Signals Fly

HURRICANE

Bargains Fill Air

Storm signals are up for February 17.

Closer and closer moves the great hurricane of values that is expected to sweep into Circleville a throng of shoppers. Prices already below those charged in most Central Ohio cities will be slashed deeper than for many a season. The idea is volume sales, and the widening of Circleville's trading territory. Local merchants are determined to force recognition of the city as the day after day bargain counter of a prosperous region.

Heavy suede jackets for men will be sold for $1, a regular $1.95 item; $6.95 women's coats will go for $3 and $39.50 winter coats for $18; boys' and girls' eaters for a quarter; hand embroidered gowns for 25 cents; boys' shirts for 49 cents.

Only a few of the hundreds of money saving items, those listed above.

Follow the crowds into Circleville February 17. And until then watch this column for additional hints as to how this great sales event will save money for you, your family and all your friends.

DAVEY OPPOSES COURT CONTEST IN GRAFT PROBE

"Inquisition" Assailed By Executive In Letter To State Purchaser

COAL "TRIBUTE" AIRED

Horn Told To Give Facts To Senators

COLUMBUS, Feb. 10 — (UP) — Governor Martin L. Davey said today, in a letter to State Purchasing Agent Glenn A. Horn, that he wanted no court test of the legality of the state senate investigation of graft in state government.

Although calling the investigation an "inquisition," the governor said he wanted to eliminate from Horn's current habeas corpus proceeding in Franklin county common pleas court every question except "your right as an American citizen to have your lawyer with you during the hearings before the committee."

Horn obtained the habeas corpus writ after he had been cited to appear before the senate to answer contempt charges resulting from his refusal to answer questions of the graft committee in the absence of his attorney.

Judge Gives Order

Judge John R. King told Horn to "go up before that committee and testify. Otherwise I'll remand you to the custody of the sergeant-at-arms to be brought before the bar of the senate."

"I want you to give the alleged investigating committee any and all information with promptness and in complete detail," Gov. Davey wrote to Horn.

"On the matter of coal purchases, all you need to do is to tell the simple truth that you have followed the same policy that was established by Governor Vic Donahey to buy Ohio mined coal at the fair market price."

The committee had asked Horn why competitive bids were not taken on state coal purchases and why the state paid in some cases, twice as much for coal as the city of Cleveland.

"You have already said that the one case on which they have spent so much time and displayed so much anguish is one where an outside individual took advantage of the state's fair-price policy in part of his transactions," Gov. Davey wrote. "Acting on my orders you have already taken steps to prevent a recurrence of this one offense in the future."

"Having stated these simple facts, there can be nothing else to talk about concerning this little company (a Cleveland coal firm) (Continued on Page Five.)

JAPS CONSIDER REPLY TO NAVY BUILDING QUERY

Answer To U. S., Britain and France May Be Made By Saturday

ADMIRAL CITES DILEMMA

Nation Maintains Non-Menace Policy, He Says

TOKYO, Feb. 10.—(UP)—Japan intends to reply Saturday to United States, British and French inquiries as to her naval building programs. It was said today in usually reliable quarters.

It was said that the reply was completed today and that the cabinet would consider it Saturday. It was taken for granted that the cabinet would approve it, and informants forecast that the notes would be dispatched immediately afterward.

It was increasingly indicated that the government would decline to disclose its building plans.

The Manchukuoan state council today approved a general mobilization act designed to insure centralized control of all material and human resources on a war basis. A similar measure is in preparation here and Gen. Gen. Sugiyama, war minister, is pressing for its early adoption by parliament.

Put in Dilemma

Rear Admiral Kiyoshi Noda, chief of the Japanese navy information bureau, said in discussing the naval situation today that it was his personal opinion that the American, British and French inquiries put Japan in a dilemma.

If Japan answered, he said, she would thereby bind herself to limitation of warships by tonnage. If she refused, he said, the powers would be given "a pretext for expansion on the imaginary ground that Japan was expanding."

Admiral Noda started by saying that Japan would join a navy limitation conference only if quantitative limitation were considered as of first importance.

(Quantitative limitation means the limitation of navies by total tonnage or total strength; qualitative limitations means the limitation of ships by classes, i. e., limiting battleships to 35,000 tons.)

He said that Japan's naval policy was that of non-menace and non-aggression.

"If that principle is trusted," he said, "then there is no danger of our starting a naval race since we would never think of taking the initiative. If other powers menace our security we are unable to sit idle."

Admiral Noda said that Japan maintained that quantitative limitation must be put first and in that connection he indicated that the government still insisted on a "common upper limit"—total strength—for all countries.

CAPITAL'S NEW LIBRARY BUILDING IS APPROVED

COLUMBUS, Feb. 10.—Capital university's library building program was given the green light here today when the board of trustees of the American Lutheran Church met, officially approve plans, and awarded the building contract.

Plans as specified in the contract provide for a complete remodeling of the old Rudolph Memorial Library and enlarging the present capacity three-fold. According to President Otto Mees overcrowded conditions in the present library necessitated the new construction.

Funds for the new building have been raised among alumni of Capital throughout Ohio and the midwest. The project has an estimated cost of $100,000.00.

ALCATRAZ PEN WARDEN SAYS CAPONE IS ILL

Johnston Not To Report "Hourly Condition and Pulse"

NO TRANSFER PLANNED

Gangster Not Violent; Not Jacketed

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10 — (UP) — Alcatraz island's warden, James A. Johnston, announced today that Scarface Al Capone was lying placidly on a prison hospital cot, that his mental breakdown had been without violence and that he was getting no special treatment.

It was the warden's first official statement about his most notorious prisoner, and he was piqued by all the reports and inquiries that have been made of the former Chicago gang leader since it was learned two days ago that he had lost his mind while serving the last year of his 11-year sentence on federal income tax charges.

"I don't propose to issue hourly bulletins on Capone's temperature and pulse," Johnston said. "Capone has no special nurse. He is being given the usual care and there is no intention at this time to remove him to any other institution. We have just as good a hospital here as the U. S. medical center at Springfield, Mo."

Report Denied

A San Francisco newspaper had reported earlier that Capone was placed in a straightjacket and bound to a cot after a violent outbreak. The newspaper said Capone sprang from bed and started to wreck his room, and that it required six guards to subdue him. This report was denied by officials of the federal prisons bureau in Washington.

Johnston said nothing about Capone's ailment. It had been reported unofficially that Capone was suffering from Pareisis and that he was displaying idiotic tendencies such as spending hours at a time making his bed, and spitting at those who approached him.

A San Francisco psychiatrist was called to the penal island early this week to examine Capone but he declined to comment when he returned.

One report was that prison authorities were trying to establish whether Capone might be feigning insanity in hopes of winning a transfer from Alcatraz, where the isolation and discipline are known to be the severest of the federal prison system.

The Victorian fashion for wearing ribbon neckbands has been revived in a minor degree in London.

News Notes of Interest From Ashville, Vicinity

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Ashville, Phone 79

William Shannon, son of the late Daniel and Mrs. Shannon and brother of Sally and Eva Shannon is reported critically ill at his home in Dayton. . . . Olive Logsdon and family are expecting to remove from Columbus to Ashville this coming Saturday occupying the J. R. Hedges dwelling on Cromley street. She is the daughter of Newton and Mrs. Hollingshead and expects to make Ashville her permanent home. . . . Mrs. Wayne Pontius, whose arm was so severely cut by being thrust through a broken window glass at her home a few days ago, and which wound was closed by several stitches, is getting along very nicely now. . . . Clarence Kern is yet home in Ashville and slowly improving from his sickness.

Ashville
Hall Decorated
Harry Pontius is doing a lot of repair-patch plastering at the K. of P. building and if appearances count, is doing a good job of it. A line of painting and papering is to follow when the K. of P. hall will "shine as it never shone before." This lodge yet has a membership of some three dozen or more. More than 200 was the peak load some years ago.

Ashville
Messick Burned
Clarence (Jonesey) Messick came in too close contact with a hot steam pipe at the local creamery and as a result, has his neck all patched up. Jonesey says it is not so pleasant to have but it could have been worse.

Ashville
Welding Busy
Cooney Welding was just carrying a bunch of plow points across the street to his machine when we happened along and of course had to ask him a good many questions about the outlook on the farm. Said he has three tractors and can do a lot of plowing in short order if he has to. Wheat in the ground is in good condition but the price of that in the granary is not so good, but might be a lot worse.

Wellington Gets Break
It was a lucky day for Ralph

Wellington when Joe Staley, our former kindly disposed N. & W. station agent took Ralph into his office to make a railroad out of him. He is going on his own now and is the N. & W.'s first relief agent and helps out anywhere along the line that he is needed. He is now away down along the line somewhere in West Virginia.

Ashville
Robins Prevail
Harry Sark says they have a whole flock of first robins over about his place and have been there for sometime. So Spring, as he thinks, has already come from around the corner.

Ashville
Visitor Returns
Mrs. Joe Staley, who has been visiting her brother and sister-in-law in Virginia for sometime, has returned home. Mrs. J. R. Staley returned home with her

Buying Meats Wisely

One of the greatest difficulties encountered by most homemakers is the selection of meats for their families. In addition to thoughts about family likes and dislikes we seldom know just what cut of meat we want and when we have made our selection, how many of us know the best method of preparing that cut?

Let's talk about beef for a while. Like all meat, beef is composed of muscle tissues, connective tissue, fat cartilage and bone and the proportion of each of these determines the quality and nutritive value of the meat.

In order to standardize and facilitate marketing and to aid meat shoppers, most meats are graded either by the government or by the packer.

The government names the qualities of the cuts from the highest to the lowest, as follows: Prime, Choice, Good, Medium, and Common. The animals are stamped from neck to hind leg with the symbol indicating its grade, thus: U. S. PRIME BEEF or U. S. GOOD BEEF, etc.

Factors Determining Grade

The factors that determine the grade of the carcass are form, quality, and finish. The term form means the conformation of the animal. The best carcass will be short, thick, and smooth with a high proportion of muscle to bone, which is especially developed in the rib, loin and round sections. Quality is determined by color and texture. The color of the lean should be a bright cherry red with white or creamy fat. Yellowed fat and discolored bluish lean is not desirable. The texture of the lean should be firm and velvety, the fat crisp and brittle. Soft, flabby lean is undesirable just as soft oily fat is an indication of poorer quality. As far as finish is concerned, the term refers to the amount and distribution of fat. The bark or outer coating of fat should be thick and firm, with the interior muscles interlaced with marbling of fat.

The careful homemaker will buy meats of the best grade she can afford, and in order to keep the budget balanced she may buy less expensive cuts of fine quality. By preparation in the manner best suited to the cut, a more delicious meat dish will result than could be obtained from a more expensive cut from an inferior animal. A chuck roast from a Prime, Choice, or Good beef will be superior in flavor, tenderness and juiciness than a rib roast from a medium or common quality beef, provided it is cooked in the proper method.

Braising

The cuts of beef which are best prepared by braising are those: Chuck cuts for pot roasts, rolled chuck roasts, English cut of the chuck, arm pot roast, rolled plate roast, rolled flank, or flank steak. The round and rump cuts require moisture for greatest palatability. Use this method of preparing any of the above cuts. Season the meat with salt and pepper, and dredge it with flour. Brown it on both sides in hot lard or shortening. Add a small quantity of liquid, using water, tomato juice or milk, depending on the flavor desired. Cover the pan closely. Cook slowly over a very low flame until the meat is done.

My next article will discuss the identification and preparation of the various cuts of meat.

Maybe This Is Why You're Constipated

Perhaps the kind of food you eat doesn't give your bowels anything to work on. Meat, potatoes and bread don't form the kind of soft, bulky mass that will help move your bowels.

If so, a dish of crisp, crunchy Kellogg's All-Brans for breakfast will give you just the kind of "bulk" your intestines may need to work properly. And in addition, it contains the intestinal tonic, vitamin B<sub>1</sub>, which helps to tone them. If you want to get at the cause of your trouble, eat some Kellogg's All-Brans every day—as a cereal or baked in muffins. And drink plenty of water. All-Brans is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

CALIFORNIA HIT BY HIGH WINDS; MILLIONS LOST

(Continued from Page One) edge of the city and a 55-mile wind swept the business district, ripping off roofs and dislodging trees.

Damage Summarized Elsewhere, the situation was summarized as follows:

SACRAMENTO—Twenty-two were injured. Power failed throughout the city. Elevators were stalled. Emergency crews cut through a wall of the capitol to release an elevator operator. Windows were smashed in the assembly and senate chambers and hundreds of trees uprooted on the grounds. Emergency hospitals ran short of supplies. Streets were flooded and dangerous.

MERCED—Pedestrians were injured by flying debris. Twenty oil derricks were blown down. Courthouse windows were smashed.

LOS ANGELES—Trees and billboards fell. Hollywood streets were littered with broken trees. The southeastern part of the city was without lights and power. San Luis Obispo was without telephone service four hours.

SALINAS—Airport hangars were destroyed.

WATSONVILLE—Damage to buildings and orchards was estimated at $250,000.

SHAFTER—Tents of 100 migratory workers were swept away, leaving them exposed to the storm.

FRUITVALE—Power lines fell and interurban service halted.

BELLEVIEW—A tree was blown into a passing train, injuring a woman.

PITTSBURGH—An 80-mile wind carried away almost all trees. Power service failed. Automobiles were damaged.

SAN MATEO—Power service failed and homes were lighted by candles. Many roofs were blown off.

ALBANY—An office building collapsed.

LOMITA PARK—Fallen trees blocked the highways.

BURLINGAME—Trees were carried away, automobiles and houses crushed. Southern Pacific trains were stalled.

MENLO PARK—A crew of 100 men was sent to clear railroad tracks. Trains were halted.

UKIAH—The barometer fell to 28.67, the lowest reading in 20 years. The wind reach 70 miles an hour.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10—(UP)—State highway patrol officers reported that the Golden Gate bridge swayed approximately 12½ feet at its center during the gale that swept the bay region yesterday. Resident Engineer Russell V. Cone said that the bridge was so constructed that it might swing 21 feet without danger to the structure.

SENATORS OPEN PATH FOR VOTE ON FARM BILL

Chairman Ellison D. Smith, D. S. C., of the senate agriculture committee, was to lay the report before the senate at noon today. Smith, Pope and Sen. John H. Bankhead, D. Ala., who drafted cotton sections of the bill, will speak in its behalf.

Keystone of the Western attack will be a point of order which will be raised because senate and house conferees changed the McNary-Boileau amendment, which prohibited the sale of commodities grown on land diverted from production of crops included in the program.

Back to Capital?

ADOLF BERLE, member of the cabinet of Mayor La Guardia of New York, and an adviser to the New York stock exchange, has been offered the job of assistant secretary of state. Known for his strong pro-New Deal views, Berle once was in the bad graces of Secretary Cordell Hull. He has aided in preparing some of the most important Roosevelt speeches, and it is believed the president considers him as "too valuable" to him to be outside Washington.

WARDEN DENIES MARIE IN DANGER OF COLLAPSING

COLUMBUS, Feb. 10—(UP)—Anna Marie Hahn, convicted of the arsenic slaying of 78-year-old Jacob Wagner at Cincinnati, has been in a nervous condition since she learned last Monday that the Court of Appeals had rejected her appeal for a new trial, Warden O. C. Woodward of Ohio penitentiary said today.

Warden Woodward discredited reports that Mrs. Hahn was "near collapse." He said she is recovering from a cold and for that reason has been visited frequently by Dr. George W. Kell, prison physician.

Mrs. Hahn, under sentence to die in the electric chair on March 10, was visited Wednesday by her 12-year-old son, Oscar, and her attorneys, H. C. Bolsinger and S. C. Brant.

The attorneys said they intended to appeal her conviction to the Ohio supreme court before March 1. This is expected to cause postponement of the execution date.

The attorneys said they thought Mrs. Hahn would "bear up pretty well."

WEAK from the lack of food and lighter by four pounds, Probate Judge Malcomb Hatfield, of St. Joseph, Mich., declares he is convinced that a $2 weekly food budget granted families in St. Joseph is insufficient. The judge was prompted to try the "fast" after receiving numerous complaints from families on relief that their children "were forced to go without the necessities of life."

Judge Hatfield remarks, "I believe that if every member of congress tried the same thing with his family, they would find a new way to reduce and also gain a more sympathetic understanding of the underprivileged."

JACKSON GOES BEFORE SENATE TO STATE STAND

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10—(UP)—Robert H. Jackson, nominee for solicitor general, denied before a senate judiciary subcommittee today that he entered government service in an effort to "change our constitutional law."

Sen. Warren R. Austin, R., Vt., pounded at Jackson's theories of government and his attitude toward specific policies of the internal revenue department in regard to forcing taxpayers to assume the burden of proof on returns. The subcommittee is investigating Jackson's qualifications for the office of solicitor general.

"You are asking about something over which I had no control," Jackson replied, thumping the table.

"When I was in the internal revenue department I carried out the law which you gentlemen wrote and which provides that the taxpayer shall assume the burden of proof before the board of tax appeals."

Jackson denied the department ever had a policy of making an arbitrary assessment against a taxpayer in order to force him to make a settlement.

BETTER HOUSING FOR PRISONERS ASKED BY DUFFY

Necessity for more adequate housing of Ohio law violators and an improved parole system were highlights of an interesting address before the Rotary club Thursday noon by Herbert J. Duffy, attorney general of Ohio.

Mr. Duffy discussed also various phases of the parole investigation conducted in Ohio.

John Kilbane, of Cleveland, former featherweight boxing champion, now employed in the attorney general's office, attended the meeting.

David Jackson, high school senior, and Rotary guest, spoke briefly. Four Negro girls presented musical numbers and danced.

WONDERFUL WAVES
WE are only at the beginning of turning invisible waves to human use, says George C. Southworth of the Bell Telephone Laboratories. Addressing the Institute of Radio Engineers recently, he told of a new system of sending waves through pipes as if they were so much hot air, except that they are almost infinitely faster.
A practical beginning has already been made, in "piping waves," using the hollow "coaxial tube" for radio transmission in television. Such a tube now reaches from New York to Philadelphia. That channel will carry many different radio waves at once, also 480 simultaneous telephone messages without scrambling them.

The new waves, however, are different, and apparently never yet harnessed. They are short waves on the border of the infrared rays of light, which can be controlled for wave-length and guided by pipes, and are said to have a useful wave band varying perhaps from one inch to a foot in length. They too can be used to transmit telephone messages.

The most marvellous thing about these waves is their high frequency. Mr. Southworth says waves have been produced and harnessed which are only 1 1/4 inches long and vibrate at the unbelievable rate of 10 billion times a second. Because of this high rate of oscillation, he explains, one nine-centimeter wave working at 3,200 million cycles could carry nearly 1,000,000 telephone messages at the same time.

These "second cousins of radio," as he calls them, may soon be serving us in many ways. The rays can be generated by small radio tubes, reflected by metal surfaces, and intercepted by tiny antennas.

WELL DRESSED MAN
IN a decalogue of rules for being well dressed, given by a men's fashion writer, we pass along these:
First, don't try to look fancy. As Polonius said in Hamlet, "neat, not gaudy."
Second, take pains about your collar, tie, socks, and so on. Your accessories are more important than your suit.
Third, "rest your clothes" by alternating suits, and you'll look fresher.
Fourth, with your clothes once on and approved, forget about them.

Americans are not so practical as they used to be. When they face a new situation now, they just try to make it fit an old theory.

Then again, the bigger warships Japan builds, the easier it will be for air bombers to hit them.

Individuals don't borrow a lot of money in hard times, as the government does. Nobody will lend it to them.

See by the paper that Al Capone has gone crazy. Well, he will be a good example to other mobsters who now, more than ever, should fear federal prison. Personally, I believe Al always has been crazy. No right-minded man ever could have done what the scoundrel did. And I think none has yet shed a tear over Al's condition. Any man who brings as much woe and death to the world as Al certainly merits a goodly share of bad luck.

Chatted with George Gerhardt and Ray Davis, barristers who had run out of witnesses in the conduct of a trial and were enjoying an hour's vacation. I lamented the fact that I had not gone in for the legal profession and both gave reminders that attorneys seldom reach the peak of income until they are too old to enjoy the money they make. Well, that probably is better than growing old with nothing to do.

Saw in the prints that George Ade on his 72nd birthday declared that he does not feel a day more than 90. George I have known for many years, but have not seen him for a long time. I can not think of him as an old man, but as a tall, lanky, healthy individual playing a great game of golf on his course at Hazelden. The great humorist had a most peculiar habit of making uncomfortable almost every man he met. At introduction George would stand perfectly still, ignoring the outstretched hand, gazing intently at the person he was meeting. Days, weeks, ages passed before a grin would break over his face and out would go his hand for a hearty shake. May that Hoosier have many more birthdays, all of them happy.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

SHAKE-UP BRINGS WAR CLOSE
WASHINGTON—Hitler's house-cleaning of military and diplomatic conservatives looks miles away from the American naval building program, but there is an indirect connection between the two just the same.

Two factors were behind the house-cleaning:

1. Leaders of the German Army never have been pro-Nazi, have looked upon Hitler as a good rabble-rouser to be used by them, but to be relegated to the sidelines when the military were ready to take over. This was behind the Reichswehr's consideration of the Hohenzollern family or the Duke of Windsor as a new Emperor of Germany, previously reported in this column. Hitler knew that he would have to act first or be acted upon.

2. Hitler has been much stronger for cooperation with Mussolini than his Army chiefs. Also he is more excitable and bellicose than the generals.

As far as the rest of the world, including the United States, is concerned, the latter is the factor to be watched.

THUMBS DOWN ON DUCE

When Mussolini made his pilgrimage to Berlin, one of the pledges given him by Hitler was that Germany would send more troops into Spain. But this was exactly contrary to the wishes of the General Staff. So instead of more troops, Hitler woke up to find that there were fewer German troops in Spain than at the time he had given his pledge to Il Duce.

Chief opponent of cooperation with Mussolini was General von Fritsch, commander-in-chief of the Army. He did not hesitate to talk bluntly to Der Fuehrer about certain things he didn't like about the Nazi regime, one of them being the persecution of Christianity. Fritsch's wife is a devout religionist, as are many army leaders, and Fritsch deliberately thwarted Hitler's paganism campaign by decreeing that German soldiers could go to church.

The German Army opinion of Mussolini is that he is too cock-sure regarding England. German generals have a healthy respect for England's fighting qualities. All of them fought in the World War, and the digging-in qualities of both the British and French are fresh in their memories.

On the other hand, the Italians came into the war late, did not participate in many severe campaigns, and did not give a good account of themselves when they did.

The German General Staff sent six observers with General Graziani during the Ethiopian campaign, who reported that the Italian army had improved. General von Blomberg, after witnessing the Italian maneuvers in Rome, also gave the same report. Nevertheless, the German General Staff has more respect for the fighting qualities of the French and British than for the Italians.

RUSSIAN OBJECTIVE

Mussolini's field of activity lies in the Mediterranean, where Great Britain is his inevitable enemy. But more conservative German generals are extremely skeptical of Il Duce's complete confidence that he can bring the British to their knees.

Instead they would prefer to remain as friendly as possible with the British, and concentrate on Russia, with whom Britain never has been over-cordial.

A CASE FOR 3 DETECTIVES
LEO BRUCE
COPYRIGHT BY LEO BRUCE, RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:
Three famous detectives, Lord Simon, M. Picon, and Monsignor Smith, are investigating the murder of Mrs. Mary Thurston, middle-aged wife of a retired English physician, found slain in bed during a week-end party at the Thurston home near London. Those in the house when Mrs. Thurston retired were her husband, Townsend, the author, Williams, the family lawyer, Strickland, a sportsman, and the servant, Mr. Rider, the vicar, had been a dinner guest. Three piercing screams preceded the discovery of the tragedy. Mrs. Thurston's bedroom door was bolted from the inside and the only open window, from which had been tossed the murder weapon, a Chinese knife from the Thurston hallway, was 20 feet from the ground. Sergeant Beest, the local constable, also in on the scene. Preliminary investigation revealed Mrs. Thurston had a stepson by a first marriage who had a bad name and who had not been heard of for years; also that her bank account suggested she may have been a blackmail victim. The detectives are questioning the Thurston cook, Stall, the butler, in the next witness. Stall admits he was aware of some sort of understanding between Mrs. Thurston and the chauffeur. During an intermission, the author discusses the case with Mgr. Smith. Follows, the chauffeur, and next witness, is quizzed about Mrs. Thurston's alleged interest in him. Enid, the parlor-maid, and a secret dance of Follows, is brought in.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

CHAPTER 24

THE STORY of Enid, the parlor-maid, told in answer to Lord Simon's tentative questions about the past was an unexpected one. She had been born in London, the daughter of a Greek mother and an English father. Her father kept a newspaper shop, and "did a bit for a race bookie", but when she was about 12 he had come home one day to say that a certain game was out for his blood, and that he had to disappear. She had never known whether the story was true, or merely an excuse for him to leave her mother, but at all events he had gone, and none of them had seen him since.

He left his foreign wife, the shop, Enid and her brother, then a lad of 15. The mother had been quite incapable of keeping the shop going, since she could not even write English. Within two months their stock was seized for arrears in rent, and the three of them moved into one room.

Sergeant Beest interrupted at this point in his official capacity "One room" he asked.

Enid sniffe. "It was a curtained door, the middle of it," she said, and continued her story.

According to her own account she had then appeared to be at least 16 years old and soon got a job for herself as a domestic servant to a couple who kept a small sweet and tobacco shop in Battersea. She left her mother, and it was perhaps typical of the circumstances in which she had been born and raised that she now had to admit that she had never seen or heard of her mother again. She went back once, a month or so to the address where she had left her, but the Greek woman had moved two weeks earlier and had disappeared during the night-time. "The only thing I got from the people in the house," said Enid, "was a box over the ears when they found that I was going to pay the rent that was owing."

But, in her own words, she "kept herself decent". She soon left the Battersea shop where she had been overworked and "treated like dirt" and found employment with a young married couple. And as time had gone on she had moved from place to place, endeavoring always to "better herself". By this she explained that she did not merely mean getting the better wages, but finding a job with more educated people from whom she could learn how to behave.

Her ambitions seemed to have been entirely social. "Upwards" to her mind meant refinement. And I felt, as she talked, that she had let nothing stand in her way in that pursuit. A new expression came into her face and her voice as she spoke, a grating hardness which surprised me. This mixture of English and Mediterranean blood, I thought, could be a dangerous one. But I tried to keep an open mind.

The story she told about the past was an unexpected one.

Her meeting with her brother, five years after they had separated, was rather dramatic. They had seen and recognized one another at a dance hall. And with her brother on that night, had been Follows.

Her brother seemed to have plenty of money, but he gave her no explanations. He said he was working "electrical work" was his only description—and he did not encourage her to ask questions. He, too, had left their mother, or at least she had left him when she had got work in the kitchen of a Greek restaurant. So that the brother and sister had become two of those detached individuals, such as, presumably, as one hears beseeched in SOS messages to return to a dying parent.

She wrote a letter address on a piece of paper for her brother that night, but she did not hear from him, or of him, until some weeks later when Follows had called to see her. He had then told her that her brother was in jail for burglary. She had realized at once, she said, that his prosperity had not been due to any isolated act, but that he was a professional criminal. While he had been in prison, she had seen a good deal of Follows, and she gathered that "an attachment" soon existed between them. He admitted having helped her brother in several "jobs", but had been quite ready to promise her to have nothing more to do with the life.

When, however, her brother had come out of jail, he and Follows had become as Enid put it, "very thick again," and as a sequel to that friendship they were both arrested and given terms of imprisonment. But it was not, Enid hastened to explain, in the nature of Follows. Her brother had a strong character, and had led him into it.

"In spite of his promise to you?" put in Lord Simon.

"Well he was out of work," was Enid's defense.

When he came out, however, as he did nearly a year before her brother, who was by now regarded as a habitual criminal, she had been able to help him. She had already got her job with the Thurstons, and, by appealing to Mrs. Thurston, and telling her the whole truth, she had persuaded her to engage him as a chauffeur. For nearly three years, she assured us, he had been as straight as a die, enjoying his job, and saving his wages.

"Until, of course, your brother reappeared?"

"That made no difference. My brother hasn't done anything wrong since he's been out."

"I can believe in one reformed criminal," said Sam Williams, "but two are hard to credit."

"Well, it's true, anyway," said Enid. "My brother . . ."

"Respectably employed as porter at the local hotel . . ."

"Yes. He's gone straight. And why shouldn't he? He's got a decent job. Twenty-five bob a week, and tips, besides his keep. Mrs. Thurston got it for him, and she knew all about him. You ask the Sergeant whether he hasn't gone straight."

"No complaints so far," admitted Beest.

"Then I wonder why Follows didn't mention that Miles was your brother?"

"Did you ask him? Why should he tell you what he isn't asked? It's not his nature. He'd rather say too little than too much."

The end of her story was soon told. She and Follows had decided to get married, and to start in a little hotel of their own. It had always been her idea. And each of them had saved some money. There was that will of Mrs. Thurston's, out of course, she took no notice of that. Why, Mrs. Thurston might have lived another 30 years. And she didn't mean to spend all that time in domestic service. Not she.

At this point the suspicion in my mind left the other people who might have been involved in the murder of Mary Thurston, and became for a time centered on this trio. It seemed to me almost too much of a coincidence that two men and a woman, all of them more or less sprung from the criminal classes, should have been on the spot, without having been involved.

I could not see, of course, how they could have done it, for I could not yet see how anyone could have done it, but I felt that one or two, or all three of them, were guilty. And I do not deny that I was sorry.

Sun Lamp as Treatment; What It Will Do

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE FEATURE EDITOR of a prominent Illinois paper asks me to describe the "so-called sun lamps or ultraviolet ray lights, as a health measure."

"I have read articles for and against them. When I read one of the pamphlets against them, I imagine I am committing suicide when I sit under my own lamp. When I read praises of them, I am enabled to scorch myself with some degree of equanimity. I believe an article on the subject would be of general interest."

Neither extreme of statement concerning these lamps is quite accurate. They do not do all the good that often is claimed for them, but, on the contrary, they do no harm except when used for too prolonged a time, because they can cause extensive and severe skin burns, just as sunlight can.

There are three sources of ultraviolet light:

1. Natural—the sun.
2. Artificial. (a) Carbon arc light (open or closed arc); (b) quartz mercury vapor arc (air cooled or water cooled).
In this country the quartz mercury vapor arc is the type of light usually used. There are those who argue in favor of the carbon arc light, and those who argue for the superiority of the quartz mercury light. The carbon arc light is used very largely abroad.

When purchasing a lamp, it is well to remember that there are a great many lamps on the market which are inferior in their power to give off ultraviolet lights. The best way to judge of these is to be certain that the council on physical therapy of the American Medical association has approved the lamp you are thinking of purchasing.

Harmful or Beneficial?

Regarding the question of whether these lamps are harmful or beneficial! There should be little argument. Of course, if too long an exposure is made, the lamp will burn the skin just like too much exposure to sun. Very severe burns of the skin can occur from these lamps. I know of many people who have gone to sleep under one and had a serious sequel. Aside from that, they do not do any harm.

The use of the lamp for the purpose of some vague general gain in health is, however, not justifiable. There are people who believe that sun tan is healthy, but except for the fact that it increases Vitamin D in the body, there is no justification for this belief. Of course, in children it is a useful procedure to prevent rickets, especially during the winter time, when the hours of sunlight are short.

The ultraviolet lamp is of most benefit in such things as surgical tuberculosis of the bones and joints and for skin conditions, such as ulcers, boils, acne, eczema. Prompt relief from pain is obtained in shingles (herpes zoster). Other uses of light therapy will be discussed in the article tomorrow.

A GLORIOUS FAILURE
When the general store of Lincoln & Offutt at New Salem, Illinois, went bankrupt, Abraham Lincoln found himself an apparent failure in life—with his future mortgaged by debt. However, the rugged honesty of Lincoln's nature would not permit him to repudiate his obligations. Instead, through long years of patient thrift he paid off every cent that he owed.
The world today needs more individuals—and more nations—willing to keep their promises as Abraham Lincoln did his.
No banking business transacted on Lincoln's birthday.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU.
BY BOB BURNS

I know you readers will be glad to know that this paper will accept nothing but honest advertising. The editor is just as strict as the editor of the Van Buren Press-Argus.

One time a man came into the Argus office and says, "I want 'ta advertise for a wife."
The editor says, "Well, we've got to be honest about it, what classification do you want me to put that under?" do you want it under "business chances," "pet stock," or "household fixtures?"

Today's Recipes
BACON GRIDDLE CAKES.—
Two and one-half cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, two eggs, two cups milk, two tablespoons vegetable fat, three or four slices bacon. Sift flour, measure, and add baking powder and salt; sift again. Beat eggs in mixing bowl. Add milk and beat into eggs; still in fat.

Sift dry ingredients into liquids and stir quickly until dry ingredients are well moistened. (Batter will have lumps, but they will cook out.) Panfry bacon until crisp; drain from fat and break into small pieces. Add to batter and cook on sizzling hot griddle.
This amount makes 15 to 16
cakes.

CHOCOLATE WALDORF AN-GEL FOOD CAKE.—Ten-inch angel food cake, one and one-half pints whipping cream, six tablespoons sugar, six tablespoons cocoa, one-eighth teaspoon salt, two-thirds cup toasted almonds or walnuts. Combine whipping cream, cocoa, sugar and salt and chill at least an hour. Then whip mixture stiff. Place cake (with larger serving plate at bottom) on large serving plate. Cut entire top from cake about one inch down, and left out.
Remove center from main part of cake by cutting down into cake
one inch from outer edge and one inch from middle hole, leaving an inch wall. Remove center with curved knife or spoon, being careful to leave a wall of cake at bottom about one inch thick. Fill cavity with one-third of chocolate cream mixture, to which half the nuts, cut coarse, have been added.
Replace top and spread remaining cream over top and sides.

Shave remaining almonds or nuts
and sprinkle over cream. Chill two or three hours before serving.

GUM DROP SQUARES.—Two
cups brown sugar, one-half cup
shortening, four eggs, one cup
milk, three cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon salt or less, one pound gum drops
cut fine, one cup nut meats, cut fine. A variety of colors in the gum drops adds to attractiveness.
Mix in usual way and bake on cookie sheet about 24 minutes, or 40 minutes in oven set at 350, having 350 to begin. Cut into squares or oblongs while still hot. Remove from pan at once and ice if desired with confectioner's sugar
mixed with small piece of butter
and juice of one orange.

Remove center from main part of
cake by cutting down into cake
one inch from outer edge and one inch from middle hole, leaving an inch wall. Remove center with curved knife or spoon, being careful to leave a wall of cake at bottom about one inch thick. Fill
cavity with one-third of chocolate
cream mixture, to which half the
nuts, cut coarse, have been added.
Replace top and spread remaining cream over top and sides.

Shave remaining almonds or nuts
and sprinkle over cream. Chill two or three hours before serving.

GUM DROP SQUARES.—Two
cups brown sugar, one-half cup
shortening, four eggs, one cup
milk, three cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon
salt or less, one pound gum drops
cut fine, one cup nut meats, cut fine. A variety of colors in the
gum drops adds to attractiveness.
Mix in usual way and bake on cookie sheet about 24 minutes, or 40 minutes in oven set at 350, having 350 to begin. Cut into squares or oblongs while still hot. Remove from pan at once and ice if desired with confectioner's sugar
mixed with small piece of butter
and juice of one orange.

That is, don't be bamboozled into filling your bin with coal until you know that it is GOOD coal. Some people have been tricked into buying coal from a truck peddler and then finding that they have a bin full of something black that gives them plenty of dirt, ashes and clinkers but very little heat. What can they do about it? Nothing . . . but they won't be "hornswoggled" next time. Remember there are many, many grades of coal but it is HEAT you are after and the only real economy lies in buying coal that gives you more HEAT for your money.

Buy your coal from a reputable dealer who stands back of the product he sells. We have good coal to suit every need and it will pay you to get our prices before you buy.

FAMED MENTOR GIVES UP JOB AT PRINCETON

Yost's Post As Director To Be Turned Over Soon, Control Board Says

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 10 — (UP) — Herbert Orin "Fritz" Crisler of Princeton today became head coach of the University of Michigan, with a contract which eventually will make him successor to Fielding H. Yost, athletic director and "grand old man" of Wolverine football.

Crisler succeeds Harry G. Kipke, who was ousted from the coaching job last December in a surprise move by the athletic board of control.

In addition he becomes assistant athletic director with the understanding that he will assume Yost's job within three years.

Yost, who came to Michigan as head coach in 1901, is near the retirement age.

Support Unanimous

Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the university, said Crisler had the unanimous support of the board in control of athletics, the board of regents and himself.

In a formal confirmation of Crisler's announcement at Princeton that he had accepted the Michigan post, Ruthven said: "Herbert O. Crisler has been appointed head football coach and assistant athletic director at the University of Michigan. The appointment was a unanimous action by the Board of Regents in confirmation of the action of the board in control of physical education."

Terms of the contract were not announced. A source close to the board, indicated, however, that it was signed on a two-year basis with the understanding that it would be renewed providing Crisler turns in a satisfactory record. It was also understood that he gradually would assume complete administrative control of the athletic department.

This source said the maximum salary the board could pay for the combined jobs was $10,000, but there was no definite indication that this was the sum in Crisler's contract.

It was believed that most of the present coaching staff would remain under Crisler.

The most important post yet to be filled was that of head line coach, vacated last month when Hartley (Hunk) Anderson resigned to take a similar position with the University of Cincinnati.

It was almost a certainty that Tad Weiman, head line coach at Princeton and Crisler's right-hand man, would not return to Michigan, where he once was head coach, as long as Yost remains in the executive position.

Quit in 1927

Weiman quit as football coach in 1927 after he told Yost to "get off the practice field and stay off or I'll resign."

Selection of Crisler followed weeks of interviews with candidates by Yost and Prof. Ralph Aigler, chairman of the athletic board. During their search for a new coach, names of several outstanding mentors were considered, among them George Veenker, of Iowa State college; Gus Dorais, University of Detroit; Tommy Hamilton, former navy coach, and Dick Harlow of Harvard.

Crisler was given chief consideration, however, because he was regarded as best fitting into the Michigan athletic picture. Only yesterday Veenker announced at Ames, Ia., that he wished his name to be removed from consideration.

ASHVILLE GIRLS WIN COUNTY LOOP TITLE

Ashville girls held the undisputed championship of their division of the Pickaway county basketball league, Thursday, after defeating Washington township, 24 to 15, Wednesday evening. The girls' final standing is eight victories and one defeat, the only setback being administered by the New Holland lassies.

Walnut girls in second place can not tie the Harrison township girls although each team has lost but one game. The Walnut team tied two contests, receiving credit for one half a victory for each. The teams finish their seasons with this standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Ashville	8	1	.888
Walnut	7	1	.875

The Ashville girls will receive The Daily Herald's trophy now held by Pickaway.

The race for position in the tournament continues, however.

Bowling News

Gold Cliff Chateau Lefties went out in front of the Industrial 10-pin league by four full games Wednesday evening when they defeated the Glitt grocery quintet in three straight games. Low scores featured the evening with Red Riggins, No. 1 man on the Gold Cliff team, being the only keeper over 500 pins. He topped 545.

The Lefties took the first two games with ease but eked out a 10-pin margin in the finale.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

NERVE REQUIRED

PLENTRY OF nerve is required to lead away from your own ace against a suit contract, in the hope that your partner has the king. But if that is your only chance to get a ruff which is necessary in order to beat the contract, you have no alternative. You risk giving the opponent an overtrick in return for an opportunity to down him. That sort of gambling constitutes winning bridge.

reckon on his opponent in the West, Robert R. Graham of San Francisco. When South led the diamond K to the second trick, Mr. Graham won with the A. He realized that if he could get East into the lead before the diamond 2 was picked up, he had a chance to set the contract. With that hope in mind, he decided to let a low card from his own tenace hold off in the hope that the spade K was in the East hand. It was. East got the significance of this and returned a club, which Mr. Graham ruffed. As a result, the contract was set one trick.

West's opening bid on this deal was 1-Spade, North doubled, East bid 2-Spades, South 3-Diamonds, West 3-Spades and North 5-Diamonds.

Against this contract, West led his singleton club, which South won with the Q. The contract looked perfectly safe to the declarer with the loss of one trick in diamonds and one in spades.

CITY NEEDS MORE MONEY TO ASSURE COMPLETION OF DISPOSAL PLANT

LOGAN COMPANY IS FAVORED FOR WORK CONTRACT

Board Of Control Meets With Engineer, Other Public Officials

ITEMS MAY BE CUT

Revenue Bonds Suggested To Aid Finances

Council recommended to the board of control Wednesday evening that the contract for the construction of the disposal plant be awarded to the lowest bidder, eliminating sufficient equipment temporarily to meet the funds available.

This recommendation was made after the city dads had discussed the possibility of a $15,000 bond issue in the near future to provide additional funds for completion of the plant.

Council met as a committee with the board of control, Floyd G. Browne, engineer on the plant program, and representatives of the firm of William Loomis & Son, of Logan, O., low bidders on the plant construction.

The base bid of the company, subject to omission of certain items, was $153,266.57. Mr. Browne's estimate was $155,365.

$15,000 More Needed
Councilmen were informed that approximately $15,000 more will be needed for the plant completion. The city issued $75,000 worth of bonds, an allocation of $61,363 was made by the Public Works Administration, and the Container Corporation offered $15,000, if needed. These amounts total $151,363. Engineering expenses, digging the well on the plant site, advertising, cost of bonds, bonding attorney fees, preparing of plans and specifications and other miscellaneous costs will reduce the $151,363 to approximately $138,000.

Mr. Browne informed councilmen that approximately $4,000 could be eliminated on the paving of a roadway at the plant, seeding and some other items. These improvements, he explained, could be made at a later date.

Other temporary eliminations would be for equipment. Although work on the plant could be started, these items would have to be provided before the plant could be placed in operation.

Mr. Browne pointed out the plant had been designed on a minimum treatment basis and it would be impossible to eliminate any of the equipment.

At the time the bond issue was passed it was not believed the wastes of the Container Corporation would be treated in the municipal plant. Later the treatment of the plant wastes were added to the program. The firm provided a site for the plant, offered funds for the plant construction, and agreed

MANY CAPTAINS APPOINTED FOR BIG FOX DRIVE

Captains appointed for the fox drive to be held in Pickaway township, Feb. 22, sponsored by the Logan Elm Grange, are Walter Goodman, Mike Binkley, Cliff Miller, John Miller, George Goodchild, B. H. Rader, Edward Kreis, Robert Immell, Clyde Davis, Edward Umstead, Frank Sharp, Egbert Freshour, Kenneth Shepherd, Paul McGinnis, E. Minor, Russell Newhouse, Wilbur Metcalf, Adam Reub, Charles Bal-to share its expense of the treatment.

Issue Not Sufficient
"The amount of the bond issue was not the result of an engineering study," Mr. Browne said. He explained the bond issue would have been sufficient for the construction of a plant for the city alone, but it was not sufficient for a plant including the company's wastes.

It was suggested that council make preparations to issue revenue bonds, these bonds to be paid from the funds obtained from operation of the plant. Council has established no definite method of charging.

The issuance of the revenue bonds will be considered at the regular meeting of council to be held next Wednesday.

The city hopes to get work started on the plant as soon as possible. Under terms of the federal grant the plant is to be completed by Jan. 6, 1939.

Final awarding of the contract, officials said, is the subject of the approval of the Public Works Administration.
